

Michael Lippstreu, Ph.D., joined APTMetrics, Inc. as a consultant in 2005. He provides consulting services in the areas of job analysis and competency modeling, employee selection and assessment, statistical and quantitative analyses, litigation support, and performance management. His clients have included Fortune® 500 companies representing the retail, electric utility, manufacturing, and hospitality industries, as well as public sector organizations.

Mike earned his master's degree and Ph.D. in industrial-organizational (I-O) psychology from the Georgia Institute of Technology. Prior to joining APTMetrics, he provided statistical analyses and consulting services in the areas of performance assessment and feedback for various organizations. His research interests include employee and leadership development. He has several publications in peer-review journals. Some of these include the Journal of Occupational and Organizational Psychology and the Journal of Management Development. He has presented his research at professional conferences such as the Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology and the Academy of Management.